CONTENT STRATEGY

Can your client answer these 3 questions?

If not, I'd think twice before accepting the content marketing project.

Before I create content for a business, I want clarity on three things.

01
The business outcome

02
The exact audience

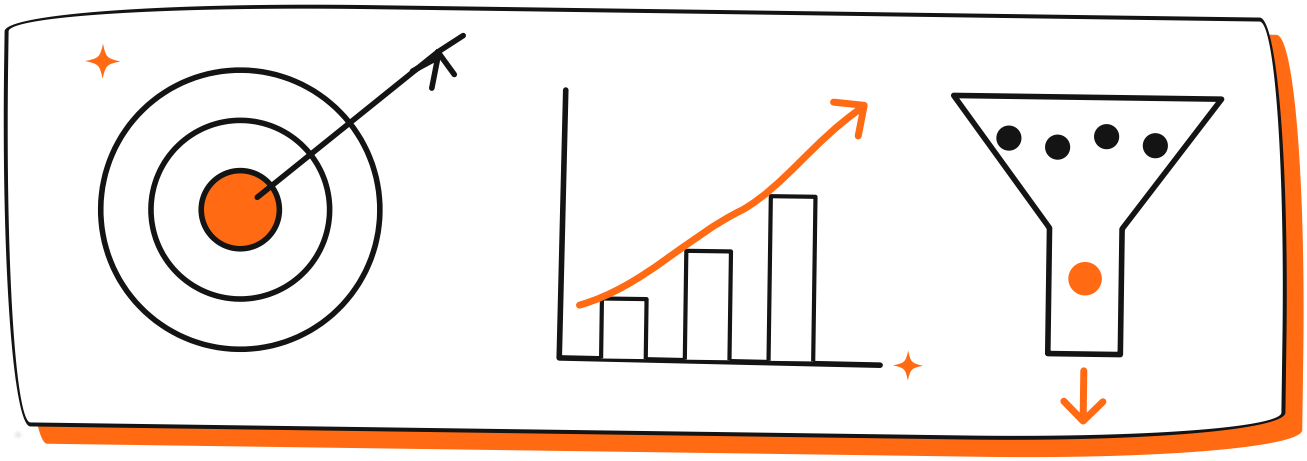

03
The value of the offer

Let's go one by one

01

QUESTION ONE

What business outcome are we trying to achieve?

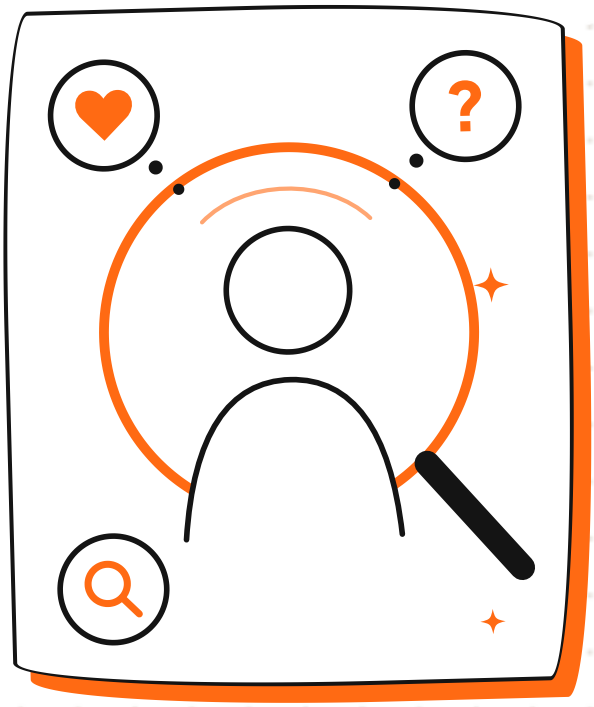

- Brand awareness
- Qualified leads
- Conversions
- Customer retention

Content needs a clear business purpose. Otherwise, it attracts attention without contributing to the business.

02

QUESTION TWO

Who exactly does the business need to reach?

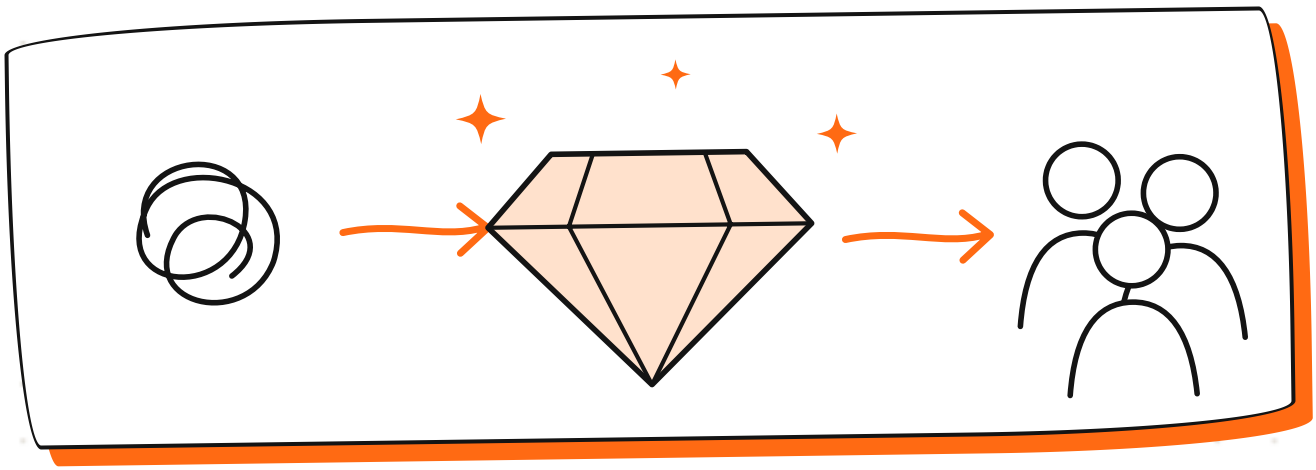

- Who do we want to attract?
- What do they care about?
- What problems are they trying to solve?
- Where do they go for information?

Understand the audience before deciding what to say and how to say it.

03

QUESTION THREE

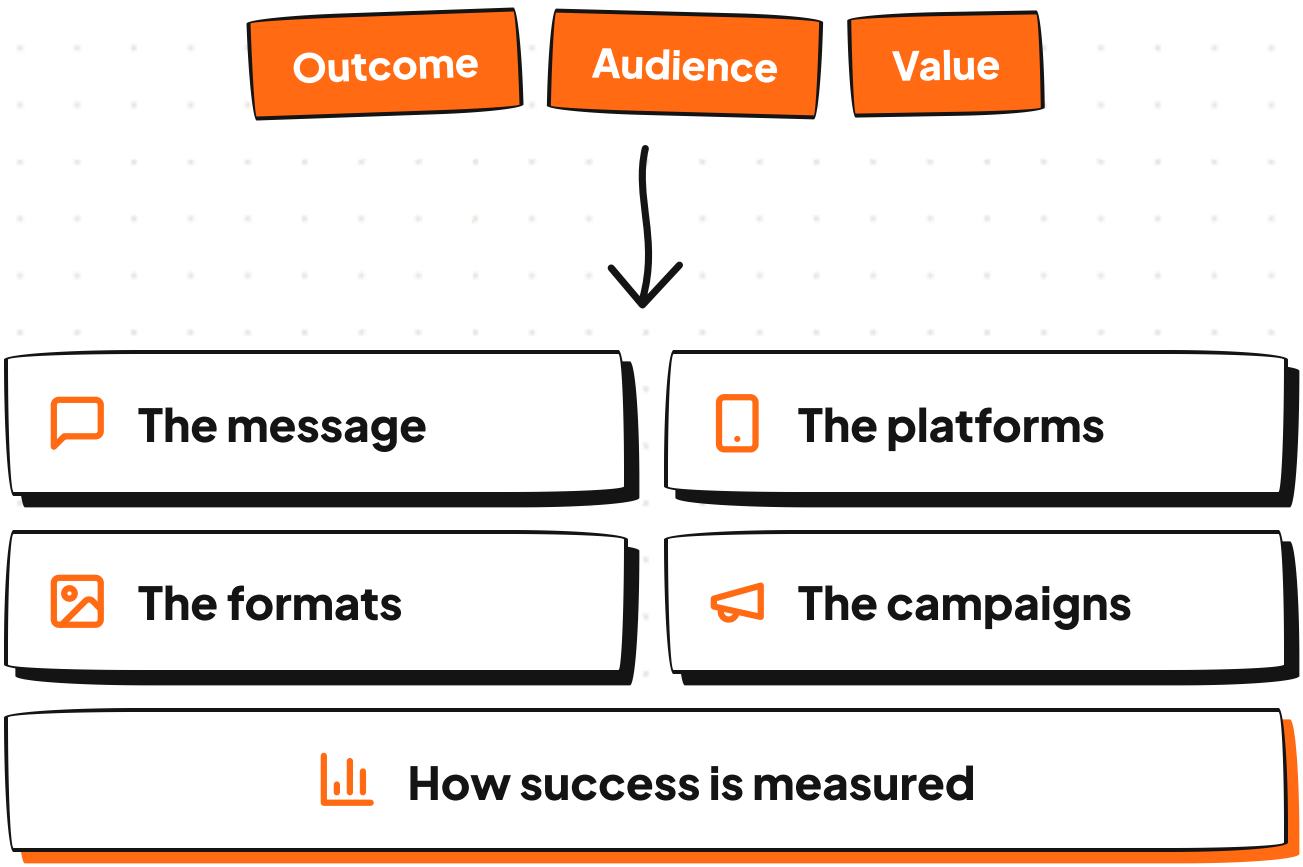

What makes the offer valuable to this audience?

- Why should someone choose this business?
- What problem does its offer solve?
- Why is it relevant to the people we want to reach?

If the value is unclear, content will struggle to communicate it convincingly.

These questions shape the entire strategy.

I have learnt that...

Good content marketing begins with asking better questions.

Before you ask for more content, make sure you have these answers:

- [x] The business outcome
- [x] The exact audience
- [x] The value of the offer
